Replit

Hi Timothy,

You've used all your available credits, so Power and Max modes on Replit Agent are paused.

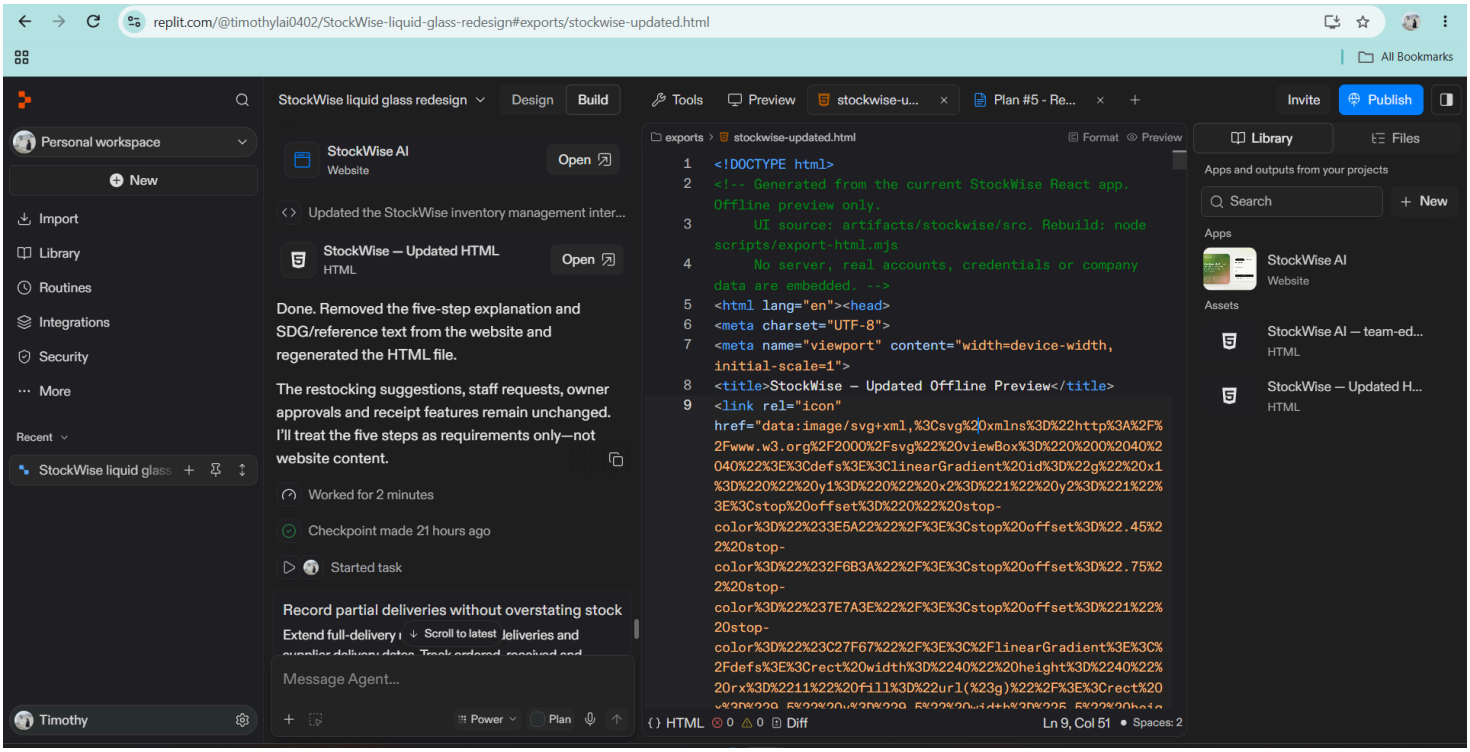

What this means:
• While your account is in its grace period, published projects stay live, databases keep running, and object storage stays accessible.
• Once your grace period ends, published projects are taken down, databases are frozen, and object storage becomes inaccessible.
• Any usage beyond your available credits will be deducted from the next credits you receive or purchase.

Add credits or turn on auto-reload to resume Power and Max modes and keep your published projects running or restore them if they've been taken down.

Add credits

If you have any questions you can visit our docs to learn more about resource usage and billing or contact our support team for help.

Done. Removed the five-step explanation and SDG/reference text from the website and regenerated the HTML file.
The restocking suggestions, staff requests, owner approvals and receipt features remain unchanged. I'll treat the five steps as requirements only—not website content.
